	California Wonder Peppers - HEIRLOOM. The standard bell pepper for many decades, this 1928 introduction is still the largest open-pollinated, heirloom bell you can grow. A perfect stuffing pepper-blocky 4" x 3 1/2", thick-walled, tender and flavorful. (Seeds available at www.burpee.com)
	Carolina Wonder Bell Pepper – Nematode-resistant. Very similar to California Wonder. Less prone to developing fungus in the seed cavity. Sweet flavor even when green. (Seeds available at www.southernexposure.com)
	Hungarian Wax Peppers - A Mexican favorite that's less hot than jalapeno: distinctive, pungent flavor. Heat-lovers, here's another Mexican favorite used in a variety of dishes, from salsas to soups, with a distinctive, pungent flavor. Large 2-3' plants produce fruits about 5" long that start out bright yellow and turn red as they mature. They make great pickled peppers. (Seeds available at www.burpee.com)
	Jalapeno Pepper - Dark green, medium-hot, thick-walled peppers 3" long, 1" wide, with rounded tips. Matures to dark red. Space plants 18-24" apart. CAUTION: Use rubber gloves or clean hot peppers under running water to avoid skin burn from the pepper juice. (Seeds available at www.burpee.com)
	Poblano (Ancho) Hot Pepper - Loads of mildly pungent, 4" heart-shaped fruits that ripen from dark green to deep red. Called Ancho when dried, Poblano when fresh. This is one of the most popular peppers grown in Mexico. Plants grow to 2 1/2 ft. tall. Fully ripened, red fruits are much hotter and flavorful than the earlier picked green ones. (Seeds available at www.burpee.com)
	Sweet Banana Pepper - HEIRLOOM. An All-America Selections Bronze Medal winner for 1941 and still extremely popular. Even after more than 70 years, this is still extremely popular pepper. Large, pointed fruits measure 6-7" long and 1 1/2" across. The mild yellow peppers ultimately turn brilliant red. A favorite for pickling. (Seeds available at www.burpee.com)
