

Hanover Tomato Festival fun

2018 FILE PHOTOS BY JOEL KLIEN

Celebrating his 50th year of service with the Black Creek VFD, Larry Leber tells 40 year history of the Hanover Tomato Festival.

Alexxis Cousins at the chickens at the Misfit Acres Mobile Petting Zoo.

Julie "The Juicy Tomato" from the Meadowbridge 7th Day Adventist Church shows spirit.

Sisters Stephine & Isabella Bryani (10 & 5 y/o) of Mechanicsville and 12 y/o cousin Natalie Bryant (center, from Tennessee) show off their entries in the Best Dressed Contest sponsored by the Hanover Optimist Club.

Ed Wall with the Hanover Master Gardeners gives tips on growing tomatoes.

22 month old Ella Brady of Mechanicsville, could not care less about tomatoes, she was into bubbles with her mom Kate.

Long lines of customers couldn't wipe the smile off of David Fuller's face as he expects up to 10,000 lbs of tomatoes to be sold at last year's event.

A Specialty Publication of The Mechanicsville Local & Ashland- Hanover Lo