

Open House for Fall MG Training

An open house was held on May 21, 2018 for prospective students for the fall MG training class. Covenant Woods allowed us to use their wonderful meeting room which will also be available for the training class in the fall if we have enough students. They even provided refreshments for the event.

We had 21 potential students attend. Some had been interested in the winter class that was cancelled. We got several applications while at the event and even conducted some interviews. Our final go/no-go date to confirm that we have enough students for the class is the end of July.

We had set up multiple demonstration areas similar to what we do at plant clinics. Val gave a short presentation about the program. MGs spoke one on one with the visitors and conducted interviews for those who were committed to the class.
